DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to the preliminary Amendment filed on 7/31/2003. Claims 1-10 are cancelled. Therefore, claims 11-22 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 11-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Hall, US pub. No.2002/0138614 (hereafter Hall).

As to claim 11, Hall discloses a method of communicating with a shared imaging apparatus connected to a computer network, wherein communication over said network is facilitated through use of network packets, said method comprising the steps of: providing said shared imaging apparatus with networking hardware and providing said shared imaging apparatus with imaging apparatus firmware (sharing data between network devices, see abstract, fig.4, [0031] to [0033]); defining a data channel associated with said networking hardware and instructing said networking hardware to accept information on said data channel from a user that owns said data channel (see fig.5, [0034] to [0035]);

processing automatic Internet Protocol (IP) address negotiation network packets with said imaging apparatus firmware when said data channel is not owned; and processing second types of network packets, different from said automatic IP address negotiation network packets, by said networking hardware of said shared imaging apparatus when said data channel is owned (see [0035] to 0038]).

As to claim 12, Hall discloses the step of processing automatic IP address negotiation network packets including at least one of constructing, sending and receiving said automatic IP address negotiation network packets (see [0036] to [0039]).

As to claim 13, Hall discloses that when said data channel is not owned, then determining whether to place said shared imaging apparatus in an automatic IP address negotiation state, and if said shared imaging apparatus is placed in said automatic IP address negotiation state, then attempting to automatically assign an IP address to said shared imaging apparatus (see [0033] and [0036] to [0039]).

As to claim 14, Hall discloses that said IP address is assigned automatically using a Dynamic Host Configuration Protocol (DHCP) (see fig.6, [0040] to [0041]).

As to claim 15, Hall discloses that said automatic IP address negotiation network packets including Dynamic Host Configuration Protocol (DHCP) packets and Address Resolution Protocol (ARP) packets (see fig.6, [0040] to [0041]).

As to claim 16, Hall discloses that said second types of said network packets comprises a proprietary protocol packet (see [0033] and [0036] to [0039]).

As to claim 17, Hall discloses that said second types of said network packets comprise imaging data (see [0033] and [0036] to [0039]).

As to claim 18, Hall discloses that said data channel is not owned, then determining whether to place said shared imaging apparatus in an automatic Internet Protocol (IP) address negotiation state, and if said shared imaging apparatus is placed in said automatic IP address negotiation state, then attempting to automatically renew a current IP address for said shared imaging apparatus (see [0036] to [0040]).

As to claim 19, Hall discloses that renewal of said current IP address is accomplished using a Dynamic Host Configuration Protocol (DHCP) (see fig.6, [0040] to [0041]).

As to claim 20, Hall discloses said shared imaging apparatus is in an idle state, then determining whether to place said shared imaging apparatus in an automatic Internet Protocol (IP) address negotiation state, and if said shared imaging apparatus is placed in said automatic IP address negotiation state, then attempting to automatically assign an IP address for said shared imaging apparatus (see fig.6, [0038] to [0041]).

As to claim 21, Hall discloses said shared imaging apparatus is in an imaging state said networking hardware accepts said second types of network packets on said data channel only from said user that owns said data channel (see fig.5, [0038] to [0040]).

As to claim 22, Hall discloses said shared imaging apparatus is in an imaging state, said networking hardware disregards all said automatic IP address negotiation network packets and all imaging data packets received from any user that does not own said data channel (see fig.6, [0038] to [0041]).

Conclusion
